

RACING IS DEFENDED

August Belmont Says Betting Is Not Illegal.

CLUB WILL PROTECT PATRONS

President of Jockey Club Calls in Newspaper Men, and Discusses Plans of Bringing Sport Back Into Favor—Bringing the Decision Into Favor of Stake Races Are Legal.

New York, May 10.—August Belmont, president of the Jockey Club, invited the newspaper men to his business quarters, 23 Nassau street, this afternoon, to talk over the best way of going about the reinstatement of racing in public favor.

Incidentally, Mr. Belmont said that the Jockey Club would protect its patrons. He also announced that this would be his last year in racing. "I am tired and sick of it all," he said, "and as soon as this season is over, I am through with racing forever."

"Betting naturally helps racing associations, but it is not a necessity. There is no law which says betting is illegal. There is a law, however, which prevents bookmaking. Now mark the difference. Don't misunderstand me. We are not going to tell the public how they can make bets at the tracks; we will let them educate themselves. If they want to wager on a race, they can rest assured they can do so without being prosecuted, for the Jockey Club will protect them."

"Every stake race is a gamble, yet nothing is done to stop that. Then there is no reason why the public can't bet if they want to. Sweepstakes are allowed. Each owner has to put up so much, and the winner takes the entire amount. That's gambling, and it's pronounced legal. Therefore, there is no reason in the world why the public can't make wagers if they so desire."

Mr. Belmont then announced that the purses would be as big this year as when racing was at its height.

PLAYGROUNDS COMMENDED.

President Taft Sends Letter to Convention in Pittsburgh.

President Taft, in a letter read at the opening session of the congress of the Playground Association of America, in Pittsburgh, yesterday, commended highly the institution of open air parks for recreation in the cities. The letter was addressed to Luther Halsey Gulick, of New York, president of the association.

Expressing his wish that the organization may succeed until "no city in this country is without suitable playgrounds for the children," President Taft said: "The advantage is twofold. In the first place, idleness and confinement in a narrow space in the city, in houses and cellars, and in dark rooms, is certain to suggest and bring about pernicious occupation, and erects bad habits. Gambling, drinking, and other forms of vice are promoted in such a restricted mode of life."

"In the second place, an opportunity for hard, earnest, and joyous play improves the health, develops the muscles, expands the lungs, and teaches the moral lessons of attention, self-restraint, courage, and patient effort."

MEDICOS KEEP WINNING.

George Washington Embryo Physicians Playing Good Ball.

The Embryo Physicians of George Washington University placed two more victories to their already long list on Saturday and yesterday.

The Medicos' big game will be played in Alexandria on May 13, and their opponents will be the strong Episcopal High School team of that city.

With such strong men as the above, and Fortier, Hall, and Milburn as substitutes, the team is confident of giving all comers a good run for their money.

The schedule of the remaining games to be played is as follows: May 13, Episcopal High School; May 15, Eastern High School; May 20, Y. M. C. A. May 22 and 23 are open dates.

All communications in regard to games should be addressed to J. C. Eckhardt, manager, 1140 Eighteenth street northwest.

O'BRIEN PRIMED FOR BOUT

Philadelphia Boxer Is Ready for Go with Johnson.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 10.—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien says he will weigh about 170 pounds when he faces Jack Johnson in the much-talked-of six-round bout in Philadelphia one week from Wednesday night.

O'Brien never worked so hard for a mill in his long career. He is cocksure that he can outpoint the big negro, and says that he will put up a faster mill than ever before. Johnson will fight light training, and will scale at about 210 pounds.

He says that O'Brien cannot hurt him, and that he has no fear as to the result. Tickets for reserved seats are selling like hot cakes. Johnson will sail for England one week after the O'Brien affair.

Promoter James Coffroth has sent a wire to York Corbett that he can have a $5,000 purse for a twenty-five-round bout with Jimmy Britt some time in the near future. Corbett has accepted, as Britt is an old enemy with whom he is anxious to square accounts. Britt is in Europe at present, but as soon as he receives Corbett's offer he is expected to sail for home.

TURF MEN INVADE BELMONT

All in Readiness for Opening at the Track.

Sheepshead Bay Course a Scene of Great Activity—Hildreth Has a Classy Stable.

New York, May 10.—Clockers and tailors at the local tracks are watching the workouts of horses that are named to start in the $5,000 Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park on Thursday. At Sheepshead Bay to-day there was unusual activity, especially on the part of Trainer Frank Taylor, who has charge of Hildreth's best racing stable.

Hildreth's best Metropolitan representatives are King James, Restigouche, Fitzherbert, and Joe Madden, and all of them are in splendid condition. King James was about early and turned a mile in 1:42-5. King James is a good weight-carrier and with 125 pounds he looks like a dangerous rival. Restigouche worked a mile in better than 1:44 well in hand from start to finish. Fitzherbert breezed over the same route under a stout pull in 1:42-5, while Joe Madden was clocked in 1:42-5.

Andy Blakely, who is preparing Samuel Emery's Arasae, let this fast miller travel the route in 1:44.

Barney Schreiber's wonderful Jack Atkin, who won the Metropolitan a year ago with 125 pounds in 1:38-5, was allowed to gallop the distance in 1:40 and pulled up in excellent condition. Trainer Bradshaw says that with any kind of racing luck he will repeat his 1908 triumph. Trainer James Rowe worked James R. Keene's eligibles, Turncoat, Casque, and Affliction, at a lively clip and it is possible that all three will go to the post.

Over at the Gravesend track Mr. Earle's horse, Don Creole, a noted mudder, stepped a mile in 1:41, and seemed to have plenty left when the boy eased him up in the last sixteenth.

Madden's star three-year-old colt, Fayette, worked a clever mile over the Belmont Park track. The clockers said their watches showed 1:42-5, and they also predicted that Fayette would be the winner. Fayette was well advanced in his training at Benning before he was shipped North, and it is said that Madden had him ready for a clean-up.

Another promising Metropolitan candidate at the Queens track is F. A. Conyette's High Private, who is said to have worked a mile in close to 1:40. He arrived here from California not long ago in the fettle, and has been improving.

That all three will be eligibles at least fifteen will face Starter Cassidy when the bugle calls to the barrier.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU, 602 King Street.

Alexandria, Va., May 10.—Considerable interest is being injected into the legislative contest to select a delegate to represent the city and county in the State legislature, and it is being done by the candidates for the office, Messrs. Robinson and Moore.

All candidates desiring to participate in the contest must submit their names to the secretary of the city Democratic committee on or before June 1, otherwise they will not be permitted to enter. Thus far the two heretofore named are the only avowed candidates for the office, and judging from present indications there will be no other candidates.

A jury at 9:15 to-night in the Circuit Court for this city, Judge J. B. T. Thornton presiding, with R. S. Jones as foreman, reported its inability to agree in the case of Anna T. Marbury against T. M. Jones, for possession of a strip of land four feet eleven inches. Judge Thornton then adjourned the jury over until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

This case has been in progress in the court since Wednesday last. Final arguments were heard on Wednesday, and the case was given to the jury about 10 o'clock. More than seventy deed books pertaining to city lands since the establishment of the city, have been used as testimony in the case. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney F. L. Smith, and Judge J. K. M. Norton represents the defendant.

Suit to recover damages in the sum of $3,000 was heard in the Circuit Court for this city by Walter P. Moore against the Southern Railway Company for injuries alleged to have been sustained while at work at the company's roundhouse in this city. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Lewis H. Machen.

TO BOOM GOOD ROADS.

International League for Highway Improvement to Meet.

Richmond, Va., May 10.—The first convention of the International League for Highway Improvement will be held here Friday and Saturday. Mayor Richmond, of Richmond, will make the welcoming address and Gov. Swanson, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, and other prominent men will make addresses.

The league was organized under the laws of Florida several months ago, and has as its officers John A. Stewart, of New York, president; Albert Lewis, of Pennsylvania; Eugene Masters, mayor of St. Augustine, Fla., and E. L. Leighton, of Cleveland, vice presidents; J. N. Ingraham, of St. Augustine, treasurer, and Harry L. Brown, of St. Augustine, secretary.

The convention is expected to be an important one in shaping the policy of the league for international roads as well as for national and State roads. It is expected that a resolution adopted by the convention asking Congress for an appropriation of $20,000 for a survey of highways from Maine to Florida, from New York to Seattle, and from Seattle to Los Angeles.

The intention of the incorporators of the association differs materially from the policy of any other roads association in that the men who are behind the movement are not only prominent in national and local affairs, but are men who are contributing from their own funds for the maintenance of the organization.

Jumps Into Lake; Saves Dog.
Special to The Washington Herald.
Richmond, Va., May 10.—Gilbert Weldon, a well-known business man of this city, while in Idlewood Park, sprang into the lake at the risk of his life to save a dog from drowning. "Bully," a highly prized pet, seeing a piece of paper in the lake, sprang into the water and grabbed it. The paper closed over the dog's head as it floated and stopped his breathing. "Bully" was sinking when Weldon jumped in and swam with him to the shore.

KIDNAPPING MYSTERY IS AIRED BY BOYLE

co-operation, can be successfully carried out, viz.: The abduction of J. P. Whittier's son. I can arrange to have the boy brought to me in Ohio, due there at 11:30, with escort.

"There is no signature to this letter," Followed Forker's Suggestions.

Boyle then goes on to tell how the kidnapping was carried out at the suggestion of Forker; how Forker had written him March 22, four days after the kidnapping, to beware; that some one had seen him with the boy, and that Forker then says he called Whittier up and met him by appointment in Cleveland before the money was paid and showed him the Forker letter; that Whittier, senior, was perfectly familiar with the conditions, and promised him immunity from prosecution if the last Forker letter was turned over with the boy, which was done.

While Boyle does not name the date of the Youngstown tragedy, Mrs. Boyle, in a statement, places the tragedy connected with the kidnapping fourteen years ago. Information to-night is that a man was killed at Youngstown about the time mentioned by either being thrown from or falling out of a window.

Rumors of Pool Play.

The victim of the crime or accident was Daniel Reebie, a well-known citizen of Youngstown, and a roller in one of the mills. His lifeless body was found on the sidewalk, and, despite the fact that there were many rumors of foul play at the time, the matter was hushed up on the theory that it was an accident, a theory that was not by any means unanimously accepted.

Reebie was the son of one of Youngstown's most prominent citizens, and a man of considerable means. Some years before his tragic death he married Miss Wellendorf, a handsome and buxom young woman, whose mother kept hotel in Newcastle and Edinburgh for many years. After several years of married life the couple disagreed and separated, Reebie returning to her mother at Edinburgh. She still lives there.

Denies She Is Guilty.
After she had been sentenced to-day Mrs. Boyle made a lengthy statement, saying in part:

"I swear I am innocent of this kidnapping. I did not know Willie was kidnapped. I thought his parents were in a divorce suit and that Jimmie was helping his father to keep the boy away from his mother."

"He brought Willie to me one night in Cleveland. I was told I was to keep him that night, and the next day Willie told me about a big fight his father and mother had over something she let out about a murder case in which he was the attorney. The boy said his father was awfully mad and told his mother she talked too much."

"I never saw the newspapers to learn Willie had been kidnapped, because I was not well and did not go out. A picture of Willie from a newspaper told me his name."

Stunned by Sentence.

When Boyle and his woman accomplice were sentenced to prison the severity of the sentences appeared to stun even the crowded court room, while the prisoners reeled in front of the bar of justice, then in a few seconds they were their same old selves again—defiant and anxious to talk. Judge Williams had said to Boyle in sentencing him that he had taken into consideration his previous bad record.

"You have my record wrong, judge," said Boyle, clear as a bell; but the court shook his head, saying: "I do not think that. They are all matters of court record."

Boyle made as if to speak again, but was hustled to one side to make room for Mrs. Boyle, who was brought in front of the bar. Asked if she had anything to say before sentence, Mrs. Boyle said to the court:

"I did not do the kidnapping. I think, too, that the evidence under which I have been convicted has been most flimsy."

"That was a matter for the jury to decide, and it has made its decision," said the court, somewhat curtly, as he sentenced the woman to twenty-five years.

"Am I permitted to say something? May I say something?" said Mrs. Boyle, looking at the court, while the entire room held its breath in anticipation; but Mrs. Boyle, Eugene Masters, mayor of St. Augustine, Fla., and E. L. Leighton, of Cleveland, vice presidents; J. N. Ingraham, of St. Augustine, treasurer, and Harry L. Brown, of St. Augustine, secretary.

The convention is expected to be an important one in shaping the policy of the league for international roads as well as for national and State roads. It is expected that a resolution adopted by the convention asking Congress for an appropriation of $20,000 for a survey of highways from Maine to Florida, from New York to Seattle, and from Seattle to Los Angeles.

TAKEN TO PENITENTIARY.

Boyles Bid Each Other Good-by as They Reach Doors.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 10.—At a few minutes after 8 o'clock to-night, Mrs. Helen Boyle and her husband, James Boyle, kidnappers of little Willie Whittier, were taken through the great doors of Riverdale Penitentiary from which it is written Boyle will never emerge alive and it is feared the woman will also spend the rest of her days, as she has sworn to take her own life.

The scene inside the prison was one of interest, for both the prisoners walked in carefully.

At the sight of the doors and bars, however, Mrs. Boyle gave a little cry of terror, then crept closer to her husband, from whom the shackles were being removed.

A man waited to take her to the women's side of the prison, as she stepped toward her. Mrs. Boyle, with a cry, threw herself on her husband, crying: "Good-by, Jimmy, good-by."

Boyle, who was tightly in his arms and fought the attendants who would have torn them apart. The prison attendances feared that the woman might pass Boyle some poison.

When they had been finally separated, and the woman had been taken away from the man, she broke away and came running back, thrusting the heavy grates to one side, and threw herself on her husband again, crying, "Poor Jimmy, poor Jimmy; they gave you the wrong side."

She kissed him again and again, and was finally led half fainting into the woman's side of the prison.

FORGER DENIES STORY.

Accused Man Declares Boyle Crazy. Whittier Calls It a Lie.

Sharon, Pa., May 10.—Harry Forker, who was accused by James Boyle in connection with the Whittier kidnappers' case and with knowledge of a murder in Youngstown, Ohio, many years ago, to-night denied the story in detail. Forker said:

"Boyle is crazy. I do not know what he is talking about. I don't see why he should pick on me in this way. I never did the recovery of the late John Joseph O'Connor, one of the best-known editors in this State."

TILLMANS AT WHITE HOUSE.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, and Mrs. Tillman were guests at dinner at the White House last evening for the first time in several years.

In the autumn of 1902 Senator Tillman was invited by President Roosevelt to the White House dinner in honor of Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the German Emperor, but the invitation was recalled after the picnic statesman had a physical encounter with his colleague, Senator McLaughlin.

Mr. Tillman never visited the White House again until several weeks ago, when he called to pay his respects to President Taft, saying he had been waiting all these years until he could "meet a gentleman in the White House."
